

Before the leaves come

2016 April 16

Spring came
but the trees are still bare

The weather fluctuates daily

Snow
Rain
Shine
Clouds

Last and this Saturday
we had
fine
weather

The same East Don Parkland trail I walked.....

...but different sections each week

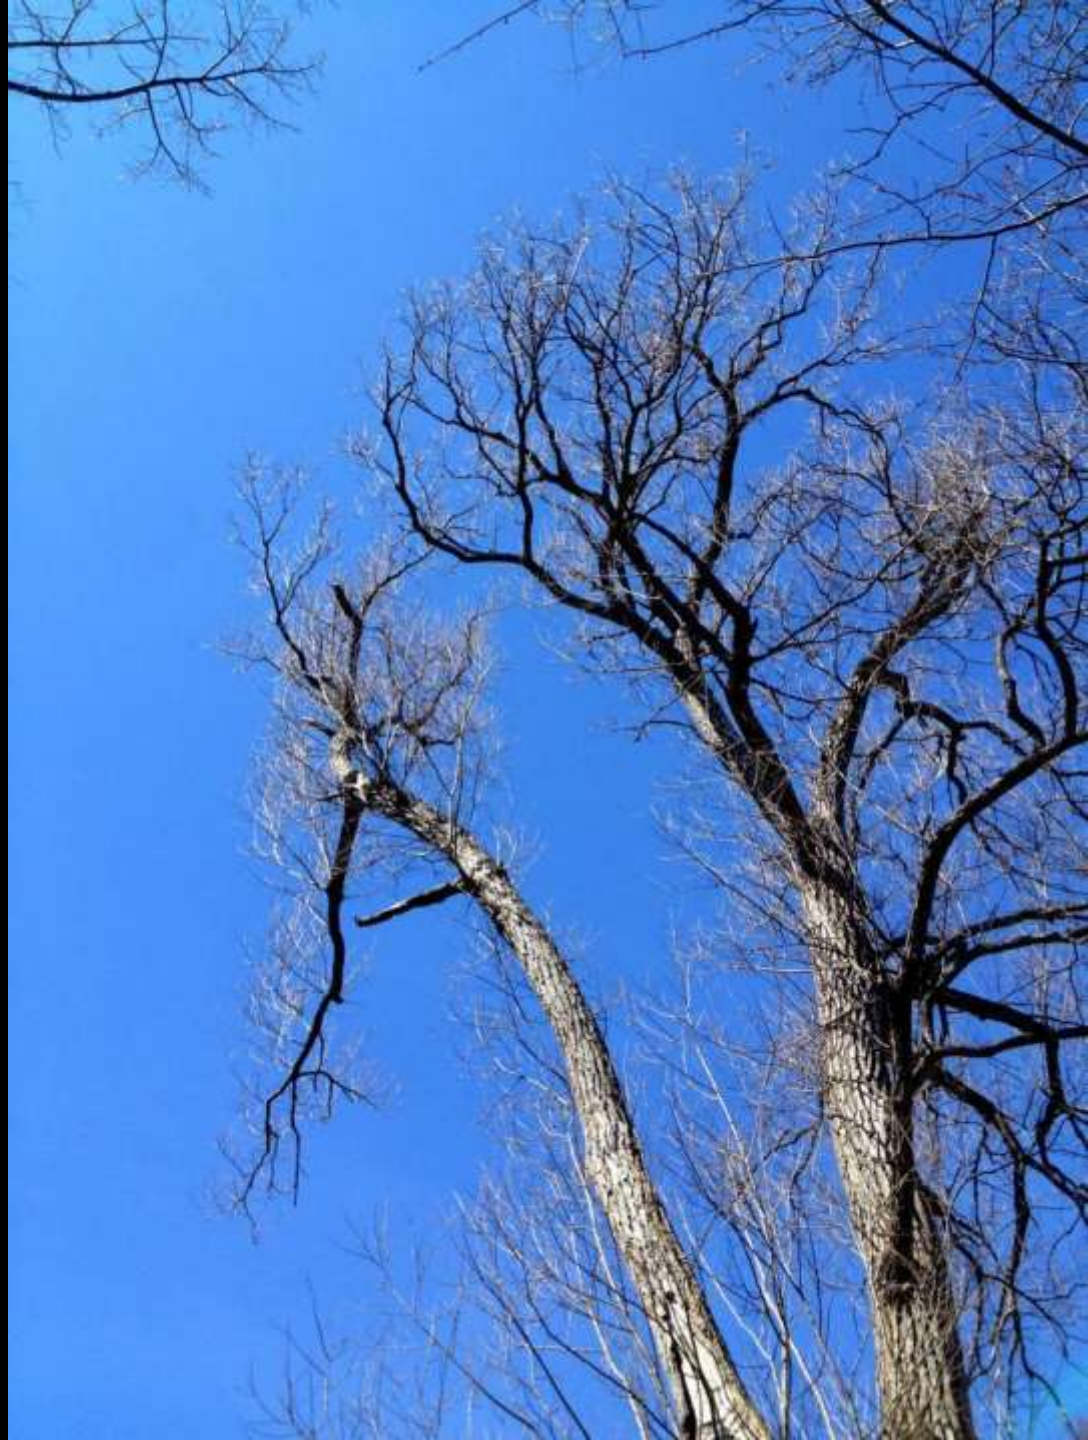

Kept
an eye
on
the trees

Did not lose sight of the forest

Camera is basic (iPhone 4)

Angle has to be fresh

A low-angle photograph of two tall, leafless trees against a clear blue sky. The trees have dark, textured trunks and intricate, bare branch structures. The tree on the left is slightly more vertical, while the one on the right has a more pronounced curve. The sky is a solid, vibrant blue.

Leaves
not yet
here

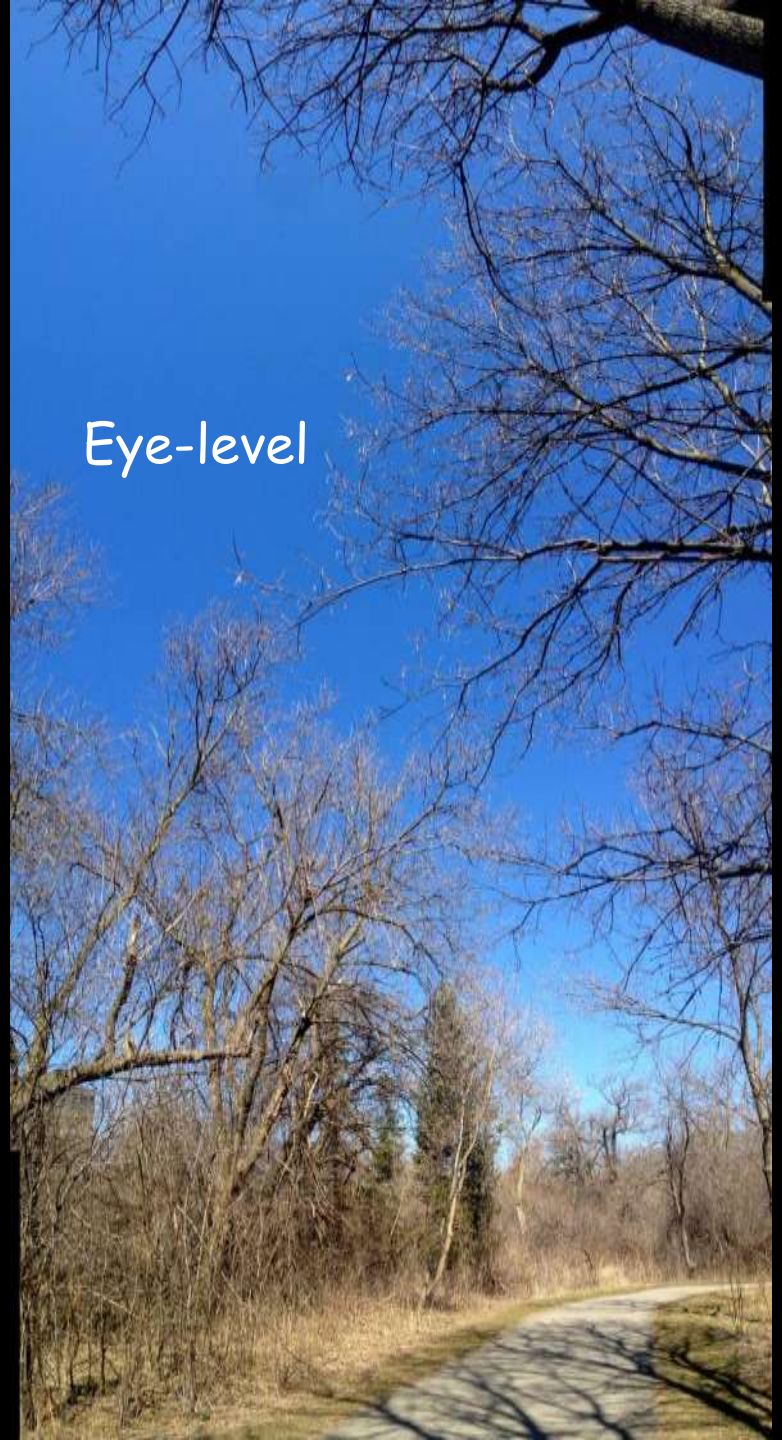

But
the
view
is equally
nice

Up above

Or

Eye-level

Last Saturday

This Saturday

No more
"bundles"

"Load"
is light

Trail
is becoming more
popular

A recreation path for all ages

same
each
time

But
sights
never
same

I love the
trail

It
gave
me
10,127
steps
this Saturday !

Thanks
for viewing

Hope you will start walking
